FLORIDA California and the Gulf Coast will learn with interest that New York, where this is winter, showers in weather near zero.

It is as cold as it has been here in winter. Streets are snow-covered, sidewalks slippery, cars sliding, noses blue. Let those that have warm sun shine be grateful, AND ADVERTISE.

HERY FORD, planning to spend one hundred million educating young people on his own lines, making them "fit into life," teaching every one a trade, wants no advice. He is right. No one knows better than he how to prepare boys for useful work. But Mr. Ford spoke hastily when he said he wanted no advice on education from those that never earned or saved a dollar.

The world's greatest educators have not been money makers or savers. Aristotle, who taught Philip, was Alexander, made no fortune for himself. Alexander, conqueror of the world, spent collecting specimens for Aristotle, greatest naturalist and philosopher of the world more than the total fortune left him by King Philip.

Jean Jacques Rousseau was no earner or saver. His story of his own life would show any good automobile maker, and he left his children all illegitimate, on the doorstep of a foundling asylum.

But he wrote "Emile" best book on education ever written up to that time, in some respects the best EVER written.

Herbert Spencer's book on education is every father and mother should read. It would please Henry Ford. Spencer's common sense in Henry Ford's own common sense. Spencer was not money maker, and could not have brought penny whistles into quantity production, much less automobiles.

Postals, Froebel, none of the greatest teachers, was a money maker. Ford himself is rich only as a by-product of his mechanical genius, and through no plan of his own.

Also, let us not despise those that fail to save money. They are the promoters of progress, the irrigators that make business good.

The biggest power sub-station in the world has been built by the New York Central Railroad in the middle rock of Manhattan Island, 100 feet below the surface of Park ave.

The surface of the land, covered by the new Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, is 100 feet below the surface of Park ave.

Men now begin to use the interior of the earth, and they float through space. One million years hence the old earth will be a glorified planet, and the men who lived on it will be scattered far down near the center toward which all matter is attracted.

Your descendant, 500,000 generations hence, will have discussions about the diversions of the earth's center to the North Pole. He will wonder how the earth could have taken so much water from Lake Michigan for the River.

There will be scientific warnings against the earth's heat, like today's warnings against waste of our oil supply.

Then the time, and next the sun, will be tried as they are tried. The power problem will be solved. But for the millions of years of years that earth and men are to last men will find cause for worry.

After all the fuses and fashers, London naval limitation conference is not going to limit anything. The nations are too big, too powerful, too big as they are, to afford, except Uncle Sam, who, kind heaven knows why, will be told how many H's may build.

Building costs have more than doubled in Europe. The new warships will be about one billion dollars. The nations are too big, too powerful, too big as they are, to afford, except Uncle Sam, who, kind heaven knows why, will be told how many H's may build.

North Adams, Feb. 17 (AP)—The coldest day of the winter hereabouts was crowned tonight by a sparkling snowfall, which lasted nearly eight minutes.

New England today with in the grip of a record sub-zero cold wave that brought new death and suffering in the wake of the snowstorm which took 11 lives.

Boston experienced six hours of wet and below-zero cold today, while the mercury dropped to 18 below in the suburbs and in outlying districts fell to a minimum of 26 below zero.

Great cold was forecast for tonight. A minimum of 10 above was predicted for Boston and still colder weather in the rest of the state. Tomorrow, however, it is due to be milder.

U.S. Should Shun Trap To Abolish Submarine.

Gen. Mitchell Warns

By GEN. WILLIAM MITCHELL, Former Assistant Chief of the United States Army Air Service and Internationally Famous Authority on Aviation.

THE London naval arms conference continues its deliberations. To understand what is being attempted by the various countries requires an insight into their aims and national aspirations.

National defense on the seas now has to be considered in three planes.

FIRST: On the surface of the water, which is mentioned in the old fleets, which have existed since ancient times, of which the battleship is the last survivor.

SECOND: Under the surface is the submarine, which came into general use for the first time during the last war and proved to be the most destructive instrument that threatens ocean-borne commerce.

THIRD: Aircraft, above the surface, an entirely new instrument of war, which has really been developed since the last armed conflict in Europe because at that time airplanes and airships were of limited capacity. Now they are able to fly the oceans, go to any part of the world, and use weapons more powerful than those employed by either surface fleets or submarines.

There are at present three great military maritime nations in the world. Great Britain, the United States and Japan. Germany is a great maritime power in potential, but she is not yet a great maritime power in actuality.

The British are greatly afraid of the submarine. In the World War it would have caused the downfall of the British Empire had not America entered the contest, and by sheer weight of numbers carried off into the British fleet.

STEAL BROWN EXAM PAPERS

London, Feb. 17 (AP)—A degree of unconsciousness prevailed in naval conferences today as delegates of the five powers entered the fifth week of their efforts to achieve reduction and limitation of armaments.

Acting head Samuel T. Arnold stated today that the papers, but he said he was unable to say whether or not they had been taken by an unauthorized person.

Meanwhile, the American delegates are having their first problem in dealing with the situation.

On the whole it looked as though this might be one of the slowest weeks since the conference started, although there was hope that Tardieu's illness might prove to be a setback.

The pending Japanese elections are having their effect in making it difficult to deal with the situation.

Fight $300,000 Fire in Nashua at 10 Below

Nashua, N. H., Feb. 17 (AP)—Fire, which swept through the Merchants Exchange, a three-story brick building and residential building in the downtown district, drove five families to the street, destroyed all but one small section of the structure and caused loss estimated at $300,000.

The flames of the building and streets and sidewalks in the vicinity of the burning were so intense that the fire was out.

The fire started from undetermined cause in the basement of the Nashua Pharmacy. It spread to the clothing store of A. C. Wentworth and from there worked through partitions to the second floor, then to the rest of the building, and was checked only by a fire which took two stores on the ground floor.

Members of five families on the third floor made their way out through smoke-filled hallways and down fire escapes, leaving behind all their possessions.

PLEA MADE FOR U.S. AUTO TRADE

Paris, Feb. 17 (AP)—If the proposal for the signing of an international convention on automobile duties is passed by the chamber of deputies it will practically strengthen the importation into France of American cars.

According to the Automobile Club of Europe, France imported 17,000 American cars last year. The French treasury received 243,400 francs in duties and taxes on these vehicles.

Since the taxes on a like number of French cars would come to only 77,000 francs, the treasury stands to lose 166,400 francs if American cars are withdrawn from the market.

SHOPS FLOODED BY SPRINKLER

Boston, Feb. 17 (AP)—Three firms occupying the temporary season building at 21 Center st. suffered heavy damage early today when the fire sprinkler system discharges from some unknown cause.

Thousands of gallons of water drenched the structure before the fire was discovered. Daniel L. Lusk, night watchman in an adjoining block, heard the rush of water and gave the alarm.

The firms that suffered damage were the Women's Quality Store on the first floor, Shahan, Bell & Johnson, furniture dealer, occupying the second and third floors, and the Audubon Printers on the top floor.

Doctor Urges More, Cheaper Radium

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—Cancer is killing more than 100,000 people a year in the United States, and more is being added for cancer, the American Institute of Radium and Metastatic diseases was told in New York.

The radium figure was given by Richard H. Moore, head of the American Institute of Radium, a New York hospital of thousands of cancer patients dying each year in the "cancer" department of the world, he said, "one of the greatest medical needs of the world is more and cheaper radium."

The world's total production of radium is about 100 grams a year, and the present has probably been between 50 and 100 grams of radium element. How much of this has been distributed through hospitals and private practice, the world is unknown. Doubtless, the

EIGHTY-FIFTH ANNUAL STATEMENT

To the Policy-holders:

I wonder if you know how important you with other Policy-holders have collectively become in the economic life of the world. You think of your life insurance as an important factor in your plans for yourself and your families but I doubt whether you yet comprehend what you are actually doing for the world at large.

I am speaking to you now as a part of the 70,000,000 people insured in all companies in the United States and Canada. I am speaking to you as part owner of the $19,000,000,000 which has actually been assembled for the protection of beneficiaries under the $110,000,000,000 of coverage which now exists. Never before in the history of the world have individuals voluntarily, privately and co-operatively pledged such a sum for mutual protection or for any purpose.

This coverage exceeds the total resources of all the banks in the United States, and Canada, including savings banks, by about $34,000,000,000. It is equal to all the resources of all our Foundations and Endowments for Education and Research, multiplied many times. Our educational, medical, scientific and charitable institutions are in the hands of Trustees whose powers are wisely limited by the terms of the instruments on which the trusts rest. The Trustees of these foundations seldom have any very wide discretion as to how funds under their control shall be distributed. Neither have we.

Outstanding life insurance ($110,000,000,000) is the greatest trust ever created. It, too, is managed by Trustees. The Trustees are the Directors of the various companies with whom continuously sit certain familiar figures. They are Life, Death, Disability, Necessity and Old Age.

Death has heretofore been a terrible figure because life was not organized against him. Now life is so organized. Death will ultimately come to all of us. Nobody doubts that and nobody can change it. The terror of Death (I am not now considering any religious question) lies in his cruel, remorseless and uncertain stroke. In that has been his victory.

Life Insurance faces Death not as a Terror but as a fact and deals with him just as it deals with bonds or real estate mortgages.

Let me show you how vital those $110,000,000,000 are. Back of these pledged billions lie three great forces.

First—the $19,000,000,000 in cash and securities in hand;

Second—the seventy million people who have contracted, directly or indirectly, to pay future premiums;

Third—the power of compound interest.

Together they make that $110,000,000,000 the most vital and useful force in all sociology.

Now try to visualize what is coming. Outstanding Insurance will become $200,000,000,000, $300,000,000,000, possibly much more, but it will always have those three great forces, the first two correspondingly increased, behind it. Because of its peculiar relation to the weaknesses and needs of human life it is and always will be worth more than a like sum in cash. To illustrate

Death sits with this great Board of Trustees and Death still strikes but, in your case, not as of old. Life also sits with the Board and by quickly translating individual productive power into cash it despoils Death of his old and faithful servant, Poverty.

Disability, crueler than Death, also sits with that Board and demands and receives stipulated sums when the breadwinner fails and becomes a burden.

Necessity and Old Age also sit with that Board and are covered by the underlying instruments.

All these benefits are specified in the Great Deed of Trust: the policies in force. Some of you, most I hope, will agree when I say that Life Insurance has come to be the most important beneficial enterprise in the manifold problems of living.

My main point is that you, beginning with your individual needs and obligations, have not only minimized the terrors of Death, Disability and Old Age but you have come, as a group, to be one of the largest holders of useful securities in the world.

You are the only group that ever existed having the courage and sanity in the current problems of living to bridle Death of his terrors by dealing with him as an ultimate fact.

As a group you are not capitalists, yet you have become the greatest of capitalists. Following your impulse of self-protection you have created the greatest of all beneficial institutions.

Seeking to banish the need of charity from your own household, you have shown how the need of charity may be completely banished from every household.

Big Boy Rawson 10-9 Pick to Defeat Allen Tonight

HEAVY HITTERS IN CASABA ARENA

Bouts at Arena

LAWRENCE "BIG BOY" RAWSON OF DOVER, one of the hardest hitters developed in this section in recent years, rules a 10-to-9 favorite to defeat Harry Allen, terrific punching Boston youngster, in the main bout of 10 rounds at the Arena tonight.

In 23 bouts, Rawson has knocked out 23 losers, most of them in one or two rounds. Allen is rated highly as a puncher, and "Big Boy" found himself on the canvas before the fight. He has a very slight edge in his right hand, but his left is a powerful weapon. He has been working up to this fight for some time, and his record is a long string of successes.

In the four-rounds, Leslie Baker, Waterbury, Conn., was defeated by Arthur Sullivan, Waterbury, Conn. Sullivan is a crafty and experienced fighter, but Baker's power was too much for him. Baker, 26, is a former champion, and he has a very good record.

B. C. FOUR WILL TRY FOR TITLE

Tercentenary Forest Gift of Clubwomen

A FOREST is to be the Tercentenary gift of the State Federation of Women's Clubs in the Commonwealth next June, when the celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the Pilgrims' landing at Plymouth will be observed.

Toward this end more than 100,000 Bay State clubwomen are actively working, and sufficient funds may be available to purchase the State forest.

The location of the forest is an unsettled question. While clubwomen are making the use of real estate values should such information be made public, have kept the question themselves until such time as an amount has been raised and cash on delivery seems certain.

Suffice it to say according to Mrs. Daniel M. George, chairman of the Committee on Conservation of Natural Resources of the State Federation, this forest will be located with an idea of ease of access and will be actually beautiful and will be marked with a large table commemorating the Tercentenary.

It will be given to the State through the department of conservation.

It will certainly be a fine and lasting memorial to the conservative policy of the federation and one of its chief significance will be that all clubs, large and small, and West, will have taken part in it. Mrs. George, committee chairman.

For this purpose, funds are being offered from Bay State clubwomen. Clubs have appropriated substantial and generous sums to the State forest fund.

All contributions are to be in by April 1 of this year and should be sent to Mrs. Frederick S. Davis, treasurer of the State Federation, at 140 Massachusetts avenue, advisory committee on this subject, includes in addition to Mrs. George, A. Packard, State president, Mrs. Arthur Morrison, first vice-president, General Federation, Mrs. Arthur Devereux Potter, General Federation, director, Mrs. Margaret A. SOON AT RITES FOR BARTLETT

DEATH. N. H. Feb. 17.—A brief word would show how slow drifts about the old home kept the curtains from witnessing the homecoming of Benjamin T. Bartlett, Jr., who, by executive decree, was released from confinement in state prison long enough to attend the funeral of his father, Judge Benjamin T. Bartlett.

Young Bartlett came home in the custody of Deputy Warden Arthur How to attend the funeral of his father, who hanged himself rather than face the world after his father had been sent to state prison for crimes, which included larceny and the bombing of a cottage at Lake Winnepesaukee.

The boy spoke to none of the friends and relatives who gathered about the house with distinction in both House and Senate of the New Hampshire Legislature.

With the deputy warden he went upstairs to his mother, his sister and a younger brother, who he resembled well. The Rev. Homer R. Goodwin, pastor of the Church of the Transfiguration, Episcopal, conducted the services.

Refuse returning to an upstairs room with his mother, young Bartlett was sent to the room where his father's body lay. When he started up the stairs his head was bowed. The rumour was placed in a vault in Hills County and the funeral will be nothing in the spring.

Mrs. Shea, financial secretary to enlarge his business offices because of the steady increase in tourist travel business. The new offices are fully equipped and Mr. Shea is making plans to handle a large volume of traffic to Europe this coming season at the Paxton Place at Chatham.

During this week the new offices will be open for public inspection.

SAVES LIFE OF 3 ARRESTS DUE TO CRASH VICTIM

Boston, Feb. 17.—A man whose knowledge and skill of a policeman saved the life of a motor accident victim today.

Martin J. Patton, 25, of Harvard st., was found in a dazed condition in Main st. by Patrolman John K. Walsh. The man was bleeding profusely from a throat wound.

Using two handkerchiefs as a tourniquet, the officer stopped the flow of blood and rushed the victim to a hospital, where physicians said Patton would have died but for the first aid treatment.

Patton told police that he lost control of his auto in Main and Wilson sts. where it skidded on the ice pavement and crashed into a telephone pole. Broken glass from the windshield caused a five-inch cut in his throat.

10 Grandchildren at 75th Birthday Party
Six daughters, five sons and ten grandchildren were among those who attended the 75th birthday celebration for Mrs. Margaret O'Callaghan, held at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Thomas H. Dwyer, of West Boston.

O'Callaghan, who was the mother of 15 children, was presented with a purse of gold and many floral tributes.

For any BABY

We can never be sure just what makes an infant restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as Baby has a fretful smile (is fussy, or cries, or can't sleep), let Castoria soothe and quiet him! Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy, and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly. If it doesn't, you should call a physician.

At all through babyhood, Castoria should be a mother's standby; and a wise mother uses not change in stronger medicines as the child grows older. Castoria is readily obtained in any drug store, and the genuine article identified by the figure of a baby on the wrapper.

How a Girl Helped Her Affianced in His Business

By HELEN KLUMPH
From Marion Davies' forthcoming all-talking picture "Dulcy" based on the play "Dulcy," by Marc Connelly and George Sautman.

CHAPTER II

DULCY and Mrs. Forbes hovered at the bottom of the staircase, whispering like arch conspirators.

"I'm afraid," murmured Mrs. Forbes, clutching Dulcy's arm excitedly, "if Roger ever finds out that I knew about this elopement—I don't know what he will do."

"Do? Why, he'll congratulate you," Dulcy told her with complete assurance. "All the world loves a lover, you know," she added gayly.

Mrs. Forbes was growing more pensive by the minute, and when she heard voices of men approaching, she gave an startled gasp and started upstairs.

Even Dulcy's serene composure vanished and she, too, took to flight, but not quite quickly enough.

"I'm sorry about the billiard table," Gordon was saying in the most apologetic tone.

"Doesn't matter, I assure you," Forbes' voice fairly bristled with aggravation. "It was quite a novel experience trying to play billiards up and down hill. I may never feel the same about the game again."

Their voices were coming closer and closer, and Dulcy huddled against the wall wondering whether to flee or face them.

"Probably I can have the table fixed before you go," Gordon went on trying to placate him.

"I doubt it," Forbes answered gruffly, just as they came in sight. "I may be called back to town any minute on important business."

Forbes took one startled look at his wife who was trying to drift up the stairs with studied nonchalance, and knew that something was wrong.

"There's nothing the matter," Dulcy assured him in a soothing voice, before he could even ask, thereby making matters a little worse. "We were just going upstairs—"

"Cleaner," his voice boomed in a tone of command.

There was no escape for Mrs. Forbes, but Dulcy scuttled off up the stairs like a wild animal that has heard a gun.

"Waiter, I want to talk to you," there are moments when even the bravest must look for the nearest exit, leaving women and children to fight for their lives.

Dulcy and Gordon almost rolled in the rush to the kitchen door.

"Who was the billiard game?" Mrs. Forbes asked breathlessly, and she recovered her composure immediately.

"Miss Parker," he answered violently. "Mrs. Forbes could not keep her eyes off the staircase. At any time she would have been seen hurrying down and he caught her."

She edged over to the nearest room, hoping to maneuver her husband into a corner from which he could not see the hall. She was sure he suspected something.

"What's the matter, dear?" she asked finally, unable to stand the strain any longer. She might as well face his wrath now as to keep him in suspense.

"That's the matter," he repeated on breathless with rage that he could hardly get the words out.

"What's the matter?" she asked, "Nothing has happened but I was sure now that he knew the worst."

"Happened?" he exploded, "should say it has. I got in there to play a game of billiards and I found that finally I am going to get ten minutes of pleasure out of this infernal work end. And what do I find?"

"That is just what Mrs. Forbes wanted to know. It was some time before she gathered from his random remarks that all he had found was an unsteady billiard table. But that could not restore her calm, for now he was off on another tangent."

"You don't care what happens to me? You just go ahead carrying on with that fellow Van Dyke?" It was useless to remind him

GIVES "TIPS" SAY HE STOLE ON NERVES COP'S GUN

Two men are under arrest at the Somerville Police station, one charged with larceny and the other with receiving stolen property, a police revolver, belonging in Robert T. Plank of the Somerville Police. The revolver was stolen from a desk in police headquarters while Lieut. Blair was on duty. A signal service telephone sounded in the office of Chief of Police Damery and Lieut. Blair went into the office to answer it. When he came out, a visitor to the office had disappeared and also the revolver, which was on a desk in the room. The police later got a call to a house on Cross st., East Somerville, where they arrested Walter T. Collins, 27, on a charge of drunkenness. A charge of larceny of the revolver was also placed against him. Police say that Collins called at headquarters to see one of the sergeants, Chief of Police Damery, talked with Collins several hours after his arrest and as a result, with which Collins' hand was of interest to the sergeant. The sergeant, who was in the room, was arrested and charged with larceny of the revolver. The revolver was not recovered.

Lone Cop Captures Concord Fugitives

John F. Buchanan and James Vincent of South Boston, the pair escaped from Concord (Mass.) by beating a guard with a hammer and stealing his gun, were in solitary confinement today following their capture by a Concord police man. Both men must now face charges of assault with intent to kill, possession of a dangerous weapon and carrying a gun. Patrolman Robert F. Lawton of Concord risked his own life to bring in the pair after he found them half frozen and belated on Liberty st. After searching them and handcuffing them, he drove them to the police station where they were taken to the Concord police station, where Buchanan was shot in the back and with his hand on a 38-caliber automatic, tried to make up his mind to shoot the officer and escape. It was only after they had reached the station and had been searched, that Buchanan produced the gun from under his belt and handed it to Lawton, telling the officer that he was just going to shoot during the ride. The cold was what turned the decision in favor of Lawton. The capture, staff with all hunger and exhaustion, was another night of torture facing men and forth to the station and back to the police station. The men were walking on Level st. They were arrested in a room on a street, where they were found. They were only partly clothed and were leading toward Liberty st. Turning into Liberty st., Lawton saw the men walking toward the station. He drove up behind them, shouting, and when they turned, they looked into the muzzle of a 38-caliber automatic. Buchanan, who had been handcuffed, was the first to be shot. He was shot in the back and with his hand on a 38-caliber automatic, tried to make up his mind to shoot the officer and escape.
